Stockholm, November 22.

YESTERDAY his Swediſh Majeſty held a Chapter of his Orders; when the two Senators, Baron Ribbing, and General Sinclair Governor of Pomerania, were decorated with the Order of Seraphim.

Prince Frederick having been taken ſuddenly ill at his Country-Seat, the Queen Dowager ſet out at Midnight to viſit his Royal Highneſs, who is ſo much recovered, that it is expected he may be removed hither tomorrow.

Copenhagen, November 29. Repreſentations having been made of the Danger to which Ships navigating the Baltick are expoſed at this Seaſon of the Year, by the Removal of the Buoys from the Grounds off Copenhagen annually on the 1ſt of November, the Admiralty, though they conſider the 1ſt of November as the Term fixed for taking up the ſaid Buoys, have declared that they do not intend to adhere ſtrictly thereto, unleſs the Rigour of the Seaſon ſhall require it, but that the ſaid Buoys ſhall remain in their uſual Places as long as the Seaſon will permit.

Many Misfortunes have happened within theſe few Days at Sea, and upon theſe Coaſts, from the Inclemency of the Weather, which is ſuch as has not been equalled ſince the Year 1740.

Hamburg, November 29. Mr. John Schluter, a Senator of this Republick, was this Day elected Burgomaſter in the room of the late Mr. Scheele.

After a Thaw, which laſted only one Day and Night, the Froſt, attended by a heavy Fall of Snow, ſet in again on the 17th Inſtant with ſuch Severity as is not remembered by any one ſo early in the Seaſon; it ſtill continues, and the Elbe upwards is frozeu over, and towards the Sea large Drifts of Ice are floating with the Tide, which totally obſtruct the Navigation.

Hague, December 9. The very great Fall of Snow upon the Continent renders our Communications ſo precarious and difficult, that we receive nothing from abroad.
